After that she will take in ballast and sail for Port Townsend, from whence she will take lumber to Sydney. At Sydney she will probably load with coal for Tahiti. The bark discharged 121 tons of coal yesterday with three men in the hold in nine working hours. This is considered the biggest day's work ever done here by a vessel.

STRICT REGULATIONS.

The Skipper of the Bark Darra has to Leave His Supplies Under Seal. Captain Peterson, of the British bark Darra, which arrived here on Monday last from Newcastle, N. S. W., with a cargo of Duckenfield mines coal, brought with him several cases of liquor for the ship's use. As is customary with merchantmen an entry of all ship's stores must be made on the manifest. Captain Peterson entered the cases of liquor on his papers, and when seen by Port Surveyor Sanders the cases were ordered taken out and placed in bond in the Custom House. The skipper was allowed a liberal supply of several bottles, and was requested if the ship needed any more, to no-tify the Collector of Customs, and the liquor would be served out. There were also several barrels of corned beef and cases of canned stuff on board for the ship's use. These were probed into wth wire tools by Customs officials, by order of the Port Surveyor, and it is believed the stores are spoiled, the air having got into them through the holes made by the officials. The red wax seal can be seen in the skipper's cabin. This is the first case when the captain of a vessel arriving from jected to such strict regulations. Notwithstanding this, however, the skipper has his "smile." THE EWA MURDER.

The Case Heard This Morning and Decision Reserved.

The eleven Japs charged with the murder of a Japanese police officer named Okimoto, at Ewa, on Sept. 1st, were brought before the District Judge this morning for preliminary hearing. Three of them were discharged, and the decision regarding the others were reserved until next Tuesday. Dr. McGettergan, plantation doctor, was the first examined. He stated that the wounds on the head of the murdered man were sufficient to cause death, but the stab on the heart, caused by a sharp narrow in-strument, inflicted the fatal wound.

Three Ewa Chinese testified to havng heard a scuffle at the house of Otsimoto (who is not implicated in the affair), on the night of Sept. 1st
They had heard the cries of someone as if being beaten. Shortly after a crowd of Japs passed the place in a state of jollification, elapping their hands.

Three other Japs gave indirect evidence against the defendants. They made statements previously to the Deputy Marshal which they denied when on the witness stand.

JOHNSON IS ABSENT.

"Johnson the shirtman," as he advertised himself, has been absent rom the country for some time. He left by the brigantine W. G. Irwin. There was a suit pending against him for a brutal assault on his wife with a heavy cane, and she had also entered a suit for divorce. By promises and oaths, such as those whereby he had deceived her into reconciliation in Oregon, Johnson here again managed to get his wife to drop the prosecution of both suits and agree to return to domes-tic life with him. The poor wo-man's friends told her she was a fool, and events proved that she had only put her trust anew in a scoundrel of the deepest dye. He left her suddenly without provision for her-self or child. Mrs. Johnson's coun-trymen of the Hebrew race, how-ever, came nobly to her relief. They subscribed enough money to pay her way respectably to her friends in New York, with a margin of $100 to have in her pocket on arrival. She left by a late steamer.

Report of the Foreman Painter, Southern Pacific Co.

TANCBED, July 21, 1892. W. S. PALMER, Esq., Engineer of Dis-trict No. 1, So. Pacific Co.

Dear Sir :-I find that the oil requires much less pigment than linseed to make a paint of the requisite covering and spreading qualities. 100 lbs. of white lead will take no more than 4 to 4½ gals. of linseed, while in my priming coat, I get even better results with 9 to 10 gallons of Lucol, and in my second coat with 7 to 8 gallons of Lucol to 100 lbs. of lead. This means a very material saving (from one-third to one-half) in the amount of pigment necessary to cover a given surface.

In my roof color I used less than 100 lbs

In my roof color I used less than 100 lbs. of "car paint" (Princes Metallic ground in oil) where a roof of this size has always required 200 lbs. of car paint with linseed oil. I mixed my roof color with 18 gallons of Lucol to the 100 lbs. of pigment and got a better body of color than I ever got with less than one-haif that number of gallons of linseed. I give you simply the facts but I cannot understand or explain them.

The drying qualities of the new oil are perfect. The priming cont with white lead, dried strong and hard inside of 24 hours. The first coat for sand took the sand freely, firmly and in larger quantity than linseed and dried hard inside of 24 hours. The second coat of body color and trinnning dried thoroughly without tack inside of 24 hours. It covered perfectly and dried with a fine smooth surface entirely free from wrinkles and blisters, and bore out remarkably well so as to develop a fine lustre, giving much better looking results than I have ever gotten with two coats of linseed on new wood. The car paint spread on the roof was mixed with raw Lucol and dried perfectly in 24 hours. Notwithstanding that only one-half the usual amount of color was used, the paint covered perfectly and did not run. The second coat of sand filled up solidly, taking up a larger quantity of sand more evenly than I have ever gotten on to linseed.

The Lucol has effected a saving of 215 lbs. of pigment or nearly one-third of the amount usually required for a building of this size.

With respect to the general appearance of the finished work. I myst conducts that it is a super and the tring that only one-third of the amount usually required for a building of this size.

amount usually required for a building of this size.

With respect to the general appearance of the finished work, I must conless that I never saw its equal in two coat work with linseed, and if the oil wears as well at Tancred as it has worn with the Muster Car Painter, Mr. Fitch, at Sacramento, there can be no question about the SUPE-RIORITY of Lucol over linseed, even at the same price per gallon, in ECONOMY, GOOD LOOKS and in DURABILITY.

Yours Respectfully, [Signed] W. H. MELLUS, Foreman Painter, Southern Pacific Co.
